

Lend Lease Re-Affirmed as Global Sustainability Leader

12 September 2007

Lend Lease has again been listed on the Dow Jones Sustainability Index (DJSI World) for 2007/2008. DJSI World is used to evaluate investments worth over USD$5.6 billion each year.

The Dow Jones Sustainability World Index (DJSI World) comprises the leading companies in terms of sustainability around the world. Its annual review is based on a thorough analysis of corporate economic, environmental and social performance, assessing issues such as corporate governance, risk management, branding, climate change, supply chain standards and labor practices.

Lend Lease became the first Australian listed property company to be included on DJSI in 2002. It remains one of five Australian listed property companies included on the index, leading the world on sustainable property investment and development.

Of the 21 real estate and construction companies listed on DJSI World this year, five are Australian, six are from the United Kingdom and three are from Spain.

Lend Lease was also the only company in its sector classification (Real Estate Holding & Development, Financial Services) operating on a global scale, making non-financial reporting more challenging given the unique social and environmental priorities in each of the 41 countries of operation.

"The Dow Jones Sustainability World Index recognises the top 10% of sustainability leaders around the world, and Lend Lease welcomes its continued inclusion on this influential index," said Lend Lease Global Head of Sustainability, Maria Atkinson.

Lend Lease's sustainability performance reporting program, which started in January 2007, is the first time Lend Lease businesses have collected and reported environmental data including direct energy use, greenhouse gas emissions, waste avoidance and water efficiency, along with global employee and health and safety data.

"Lend Lease has spent the past 12 months implementing systems and processes to deliver on our commitment to better understand and address the impacts of our operations globally, and our inclusion on DJSI World reflects this work."

"The challenge now is to continue to improve."
